Into the Future . . .

FOREWORD . . .

Through the years students of Randolph-Macon College have been handed down a tradition of pride, progress, and the highest academic standards possible. Last year's annual presented the college from an historical perspective. This year we are attempting to follow through with a similar theme. However, instead of delving into the past, the 1963 Yellow Jacket Annual is seeking a glimpse into the future of Randolph-Macon.

For generations we have been faced with the problem — "the closing college door." It is this door that Randolph-Macon is attempting to keep open. As long as there is the continuance of great institutions, this problem can be met with confidence.

Through aid from the Methodist Church and untold organizations and benefactors Randolph-Macon has much to look forward to in the way of growth and development. While physical growth is most easily seen, we must not forget that academic and mental development accompany learning in this institution. We can see the new face of our campus, but we must realize that new ideas and a deep desire for knowledge complete the many facets of our college life. In the new library we become aware that expansion in size and in knowledge go hand in hand.

After looking at the solid foundation upon which our college has been built, we realize the great task we have in upholding the richness of our tradition; we look forward to it, and the years will add only more to its significance. The future of Randolph-Macon will continue in the excellent path of its past. We of the 1963 Yellow Jacket Annual Staff are proud to be able to look forward in time and catch a glimpse of the future awaiting Randolph-Macon.

President Randolph-Macon College

It is with great pride that the 1963 Yellow Jacket Annual Staff dedicates this yearbook to Dr. J. Earl Moreland. We feel that in the development of our College — past, present, and future — Dr. Moreland is the one who has made such development possible, moreso than any other single person. His great love for Randolph-Macon College, as well as for higher education, has given him the desire to work towards the high goals set for R-M. C. We remember his travels all over our country and even abroad, but also know the friendliness and kindliness shown to every member of our community. It is with great thanks, not so much for ourselves, but for future students and faculty, that we acknowledge Dr. J. Earl Moreland for his work in helping to build Randolph-Macon College and wish him continuing success.

In the academic world, Dr. Moreland welcomes three new additions to our distinguished faculty. L. to R. Choplin Lawson, Dr. Breisacher, Dr. Moreland, Coach Werner.

DEDICATION . . .

As a delegate to the 3rd World Council of Churches meeting, Dr. Moreland is pictured with Dr. Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard University in New Delhi, India, December, 1961.

For distinguished service to the Methodist Church, Dr. Moreland receives the Saint George award on October 10, 1962.

PREPARATION

Essential to any school are the factors that attact and screen prospective members of the sudent body. Alumni, families, publications and churches accomplish much of this, but the actual duties devolve upon the Registrar and Dean of Admission. The admissions Board makes the final decisions to this area. During the past year, over one thousand applications were submitted; less than 200 accepted.

Advances of another sort have been forthcoming as the practice of pre-registration was initiated in spring 1962 for the following year's classes. Electronic computors such as pictured above played a big part here. Negotiations are now underway for the purchase of such a computor to handle campus chores. Possible uses include administrative, science departments, and programed testing.

A familiar scene in the spring of any year, is an interview between prospective students and registrar, William A. Robertson, Jr.

Through a liberal education, Randolph-Macon College strives to mold men of the highest character who possess the qualities of leadership and knowledge. In practical experience, the science departments, the Student Education Association, journalistic outlets, and other organizations allow the student to form a working knowledge of possible professions and fields for further study. Each year graduating seniors continue in their studies on the graduate school level at many famous and diversified universities. The placement office aids those graduates who wish to enter business with interviews for possible positions in the world of industry, education, commerce, and finance.

Pete Kritzer demonstrates the diversity of R-M. C. education as he fills the capacity of student teacher at Patrick Henry High School.

Bill Cole, '60, furthers his education on the graduate level in a lab of the medical school, University of Virginia.

Office of the President

To the Class of '63:

I count it a privilege and a pleasure to utilize this means of greeting the members of the Class of '63. I am happy to assure you and all students of our college of my very best wishes for all the days ahead. Each of you represents a vital, significant part in the life of our college. You of the Class of '63 have become a part forever of Randolph-Macon.

Every Randolph-Macon man takes great pride in the history and achievements of our beloved college. The men who have gone forth from these halls during the past 133 years have been loyal to alma mater. Many, many of them have brought honor and distinction to alma mater.

We are also keenly and vitally interested in the program now being carried forward by our college. The scope of its activity and service has been and is now being broadened. The curriculum is being extended and enriched. The faculty continues to be the center and source of Randolph-Macon's greatest endowment. We confidently believe that the college is better equipped in buildings, grounds and facilities than ever before to serve our students and our constituency.

It is still true that "the past is prologue." We must look to the future. Liberal learning based on Christian idealism is the fountainhead of American culture. How can our college serve tomorrow as it served yesterday and is serving today? Through liberal learning, facts and information in a wide variety of fields is made available; it also stimulates "awe and wonder and delight in the discovery of new knowledge." And all this must be provided in an atmosphere of freedom. As Bishop Bergraav, the hero of Norwegian resistance in World War II, has said, "Without freedom we cannot even breathe." This college has always stood steadfastly for freedom to discover and proclaim the truth. We are committed at Randolph-Macon to the continuation and enhancement of this noteworthy, noble tradition. We must also strive more and more for excellence at every level of the life of the college.

I am happy to join with the members of the Class of '63 in pledging "our lives and our loyalty" to the end that the great goals above enunciated may be brought to realization through the days ahead.

With the assurance of my best personal wishes to each and all members of the Class of '63 and to all students of Randolph-Macon, I am

Very sincerely yours,

J. Earl Moreland

The Trustees

The Board of Trustees, composed of from twenty-four to fourty-four members, is the supervisory committee of the college. They not only aid in present administrative and faculty problems but are largely responsible for the future of the institution. Upon their shoulders rests the task of further development of Randolph-Macon College.

Outstanding members of the Board include Bishops Paul N. Garber and Walter C. Gum, Justices Walter E. Hoffman and E. Barrett Prettyman, and former governor of Virginia Thomas B. Stanley.

In these few pictures are shown some typical phases of both administrative and faculty life. Administrative officers and faculty members, as well as students, know very well that every day can be trying in many respects. Rewards are gratifying to all, but even a moment of rest has its benefits.

The Chad Michell Trio entertained a full house at the fall IFC Concert.

The Interfraternity Council is the governing body of the eight Greek-letter social fraternities. It is composed of two elected or appointed representatives from each social fraternity on campus. Serving as mediator between fraternity men and administration, the IFC is responsible for making and enforcing policies and regulations concerning the rushing of prospective fraternity men and interfraternity relations. During the past year, several service projects and the three concerts have kept the council busy.

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington College (now Washington and Lee University), Lexington, Virginia, on December 21, 1865. The idea for the fraternity was conceived by James Wood and three companions who are recognized as the Order's founders. The first name given the new fraternity was Phi Kappa Chi. However, this name did not last long for, at the request of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, the founders changed the name to Kappa Alpha Order — an Order being a group seeking a common goal — the goal being based on the high ideals of General Robert E. Lee, who at that time was president of Washington College.

The original founders had no plans for extension, but by 1868, Kappa Alpha was on the move. In this year the Beta Chapter was founded at Virginia Military Institute, the Gamma Chapter at the University of Georgia, and the Delta Chapter at Wofford College.

In 1869, the Zeta Chapter of Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Randolph-Macon by General Jo Lane Stern. The first member of Zeta Chapter was Edward Johnson, son of the president of Randolph-Macon at that time. J. W. Lambert was a KA at Randolph-Macon in 1870, and later founded the Lambert Pharmaceutical Company of St. Louis. M. W. Smith, another early KA at R-M, became chancellor of the Randolph-Macon system of schools and colleges. It was Brother Smith who planned and erected the first house which was the first house ever used exclusively for the holding of meetings of any chapter of Kappa Alpha. In 1930, the sixty-first birthday of the Zeta Chapter, ground was broken for a new house which is now the present home of the KA's and is known as the "Old Stone Fort."

For over ninety years the KA's have contributed greatly to the life and activities on the Randolph-Macon campus, and today Kappa Alpha Order is one of the leading fraternities in the United States.

In its 93rd year on the Randolph-Macon campus, Zeta Chapter, Kappa Alpha Order continues to play an important part in the life of many campus activities. Herb Widener is vice-president of student government, a member of Chi Beta Phi, a member of the Circle K Club, and a member of the Randolph-Macon Conservative Society. Henry Hurt is president of the sophomore class, news editor of The Yellow Jacket, a member of the Circle K Club, and a member of the Randolph-Macon Conservative Society. Harrison Turner is past president of the sophomore class and is presently serving on the Board of Review as well as being a member of Circle K. Jim Dalton serves on the Judicial Council and is president of the Circle K Club. Bill Chambers serves on the Judicial Council as member at large and is a member of the Student Senate. Ken Tomlinson is vice-president of the freshman class, a member of Circle K, a member of the Franklin Forensic Society, and a member of the Conservative Society. During the past year, John Swezey was instrumental in the founding of the Conservative Society. Jack Brightwell is vice-president of the United Nations Affiliate of Randolph-Macon and was instrumental in the founding of the campus organization. The KA's are also proud that twelve of their brothers are in Circle K.

In the area of athletics, Bill Chambers is co-captain of the basketball team as well as co-captain of the baseball squad. Bil' Reuger is on the swimming team and the golf team. Joe Parker is on the swimming team. Jeff Goggin, Davy Davidson, and Tom Kellam are on the football team while Paul Kincheloe, Gary Crampton, and Stewart Hopewell are on the baseball team. Butch Beale, Bill Waechter, and Bill Reuger are on the golf team. Stan Trimble is a member of the basketball team, and Dave Warden is on the tennis team.

Lambert Hall, named in honor of its benefactor, has been the scene of many social activities during the past year. The annual Christmas party for the children from the Virginia Methodist Home was successful. Particularly outstanding was the banquet given for the KA alumni on Homecoming Day, and one of the highlights of the year was the "Old South Ball."

The true highlight of last year came when the chapter was given the award for being the outstanding chapter in the state.

Blair and Tom engage in study for a "book exam?!"

Phi Kappa Sigma was established at the University of Pennsylvania on August 16, 1850 by Samuel Brown Wylie Mitchell. In honor of the founder, the Alpha Chapter established the B. W. Mitchell prize in English Literature at Pennsylvania. This scholastic award was probably the first of its kind offered by a fraternity in any American college or university. It was accepted by the university and thus represented the first official recognition of fraternities at that institution.

Phi Kappa Sigma is the only international social organization which has a college named in its honor. J. W. Barrow established in 1859 the Phi Kappa Sigma Male College in Monticello, Arkansas. But during the Civil War the College was destroyed by the Union Army and the College was never revived. After the Civil War, the fraternity had limited its expansion almost exclusively to the Atlantic Seaboard. But during the 1890's chapters were established in outstanding institutions from coast to coast.

Of the approximately 28,000 men who have taken the vows of Phi Kappa Sigma, a very high proportion have distinguished themselves by achievements in the fields of their choice. Since 1897, there has been one or more Phi Kaps serving the United States Senate. Claude A. Swanson, a Brother of Tau Chapter at Randolph-Macon, served as Secretary of the Navy under Franklin Roosevelt.

The Tau Chapter of Phi Kappa Sigma was established on the Randolph-Macon College Campus on Janurary 26, 1872. Brother Leroy S. Edwards, of Tau Chapter, is given credit for the conception of the idea of a chapter here at R-M. In the beginning, two little rooms in the then incomplete Literary Society Building were shared by the secret societies of the college. This was unsatisfactory. In 1892, after a number of temporary quarters, a house was erected on the grounds of the present chapter house. This large frame house served the social activities of Tau Chapter until May, 1962.

Last summer a new modern brick house was built by alumni contributions. This building symbolizes the forward outlook of the fraternity in producing men of integrity for the future.

The past year has been a very successful one for the Phi Kaps. For the second straight year the fraternity won the intramural championship. On the varsity level, the Phi Kaps were also well represented. Brother Frank Kaminski was honored as a Little All-American in basketball. Other to letter representing R-M C in varsity competition were John Capehart in football, Blair Harry in basketball, Ed Turnage in track, Ron Portewig, captain of the tennis team; Sam Johnson golf; and Matt Williams in soccer. Brother Turnage, a football prospect, was out for the second straight year with an injury.

Tau Chapter is active in other phases of campus life as well. Alpha Sam Johnson is president of the Junior Class and treasurer of Circle K.

Ryland Chapman is president of Pi Gamma Mu. Bob Kay is vice-president of the I.F.C. and, along with John Capehart, a member of Circle K. All of the aforementioned letter-men are members of the varsity club.

"Phi Party tonight!!"

The Community Building at the Independence Christian Church gets a coat of paint.

Jim Davis and John Gilliam are welcomed to the fold.

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity was founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio on December 26, 1848. Virginia Gamma is among the oldest chapters in the nation receiving its charter in 1874.

The dedication of the new Walter Hines Page Library brought one of Randolph-Macon College's and Phi Delta Theta's most distinguished alumni. Brother J. Rives Childs was the principal speaker at the dedication. Following the dedication Brother Childs came by the House for a very enjoyable, informal talk with the Brothers.

At the end of the year, Phi Delta Theta ranked second on campus academically with a 1.9 average. This past year was the eleventh straight year that Virginia Gamma has been above the all-men's average. We rank second nationally out of 124 chapters and have in the past been in first place nationally, the most recent being the year 1959-1960. This illustrates the goal of Virginia Gamma — the combination of social life and academic work.

For the annual Community Service Day Project the Phis all joined to help repair and clean up the grounds of the Independent Christian Church. After a generous meal, served by the ladies of the church, the Phis joined in with the congregation in an afternoon of hard work, which consisted of landscaping and painting the exterior of the church meeting hall.

This year the intramural season offers promise for the Phi Delts. Football proved to be a "hard luck story" in that the Phis lost five games by one touchdown a game. The tankmen placed third. Likewise, the volleyball team took a white ribbon. Prospects for the remainder of the intramural activities rest on hope and desire.

Representing the Phis in varsity football were Don Way and Bill Wester. Both were starters at halfback and center respectively. Brother Wester was named honorable mention all Mason-Dixon Conference.

For the tankmen Brothers John Wolff and Richard Young continue to excel. Wolff, a sophomore, has broken many records many of which were his own. Brothers John Crumpler, Tom Hall, and Pete Hall were instrumental in the organizing of a lacrosse club at Randolph-Macon.

Phi Delta Theta boasts of leadership in every phase of campus life. Edward Lilly is Secretary-treasurer of the Student Government. Mike Thompson, Moe Saunders, and Bill Wester serve as Senators, while John Crumpler is a senior member of the Judicial Council.

Leaders in campus publications are Seddon Boxley, editor of the Annual; Bill Jacobs, assistant editor of the Annual; Drury Stith, feature editor of the Weekly and administration editor of the Annual; and Mike Thompson, fraternity editor of the Annual.

Hoy Steele is the chairman of Kern Center, and Pete Hall and Sam Lightner are vice-president and secretary respectively of the Circle K Club. Lightner is also the secretary of the Inter-Fraternity Council. Schuyler Miller and John Crumpler are members of Pi Gamma Mu. John Davis and Seddon Boxley are members of Beta Beta Beta, and Bill Jacobs and Boxley are members of Pi Delta Epsilon.

Under John Crumpler, Rush Chairman, a very successful rush program was carried out, and was highlighted by several combos, smokers, and the annual rush banquet. When the bids were turned in the Phis received a 100% return of the fifteen bids extended. Under the able leadership of Pledge Master Macon Brock and House Managers Rick Craighill and Randy Hiner, the pledges seem destined to have a very meaningful and instructive pledge period. This pledge class of 1962 insures Virginia Gamma that the future will be both secure and successful.

The boys swing out with the combo!

KAPPA SIGMA FRATERNITY

Since its founding at Randolph-Macon in 1888, Eta Chapter of Kappa Sigma has continued to add much to the life of the campus through its fraternal spirit and close brotherhood.

Last year, the chapter was greatly improved academically by its strong pledge class which added fifteen new brothers to the fraternity. During the year, new and old brothers participated in several civic projects including activities with the Methodist Children's Home in Richmond and the supporting of a local needy family through the Christmas season. In January, the fraternity also initiated its Alumni House Fund to raise funds for a new fraternity house. While we were not able to raise enough money for the house we were interested in, we are hopeful of a new house in the near future.

We were greatly honored this year in being awarded the Omicron Delta Kappa plaque, which is given annually to the social organization which is most improved in terms of extracurricular and scholastic activities. In addition, we were voted the Interfraternity Council cup as most improved fraternity on campus.

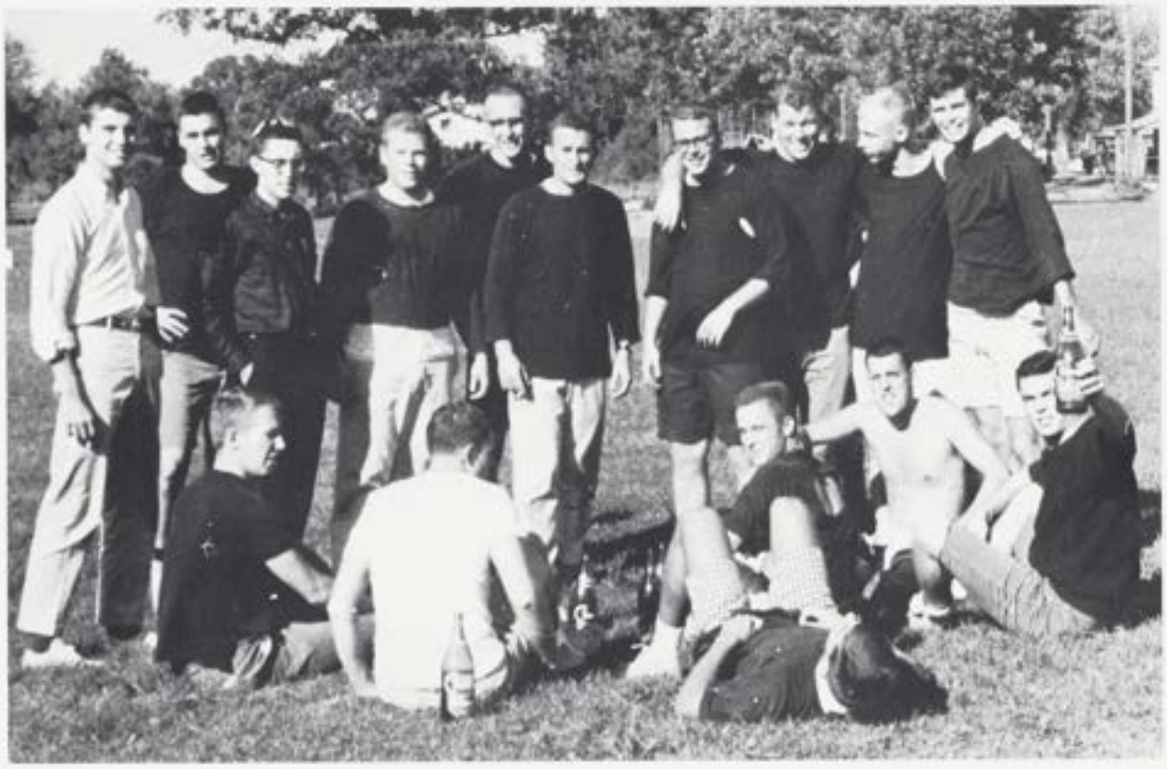
This year the Kappa Sig's were honored to have their representative, Miss Jeannie Polk, chosen as Homecoming Queen for 1962.

Intramurally, this year has been a most successful one. We compiled a 5-3 record in football and showed great spirit, both on the field and on the sidelines. Harry Diezel, our quarterback, was voted the outstanding back of the year in the intramural league.

The brothers of Kappa Sigma are active in a variety of extra-curricular activities. Brothers holding offices on campus this year include Barry Kerkam, Secretary-Treasurer of the Sophomore Class; Otts Davis, member of the social activities committee; Powers Thomas, President of the Walter Hines Page Club; Willie Thomas, Treasurer of the Inter-fraternity Council; Baxter Simmons, Secretary of the Intramural Council; and Don Pryor, News Director of WRMB. John Gibson, Jake Moll, Buddy White, Baxter Simmons, and Powers Thomas have received their letters in varsity sports. Brothers also take part in such organizations as the Glee Club, Franklin Forensic Society, and Yellow Jacket Weekly.

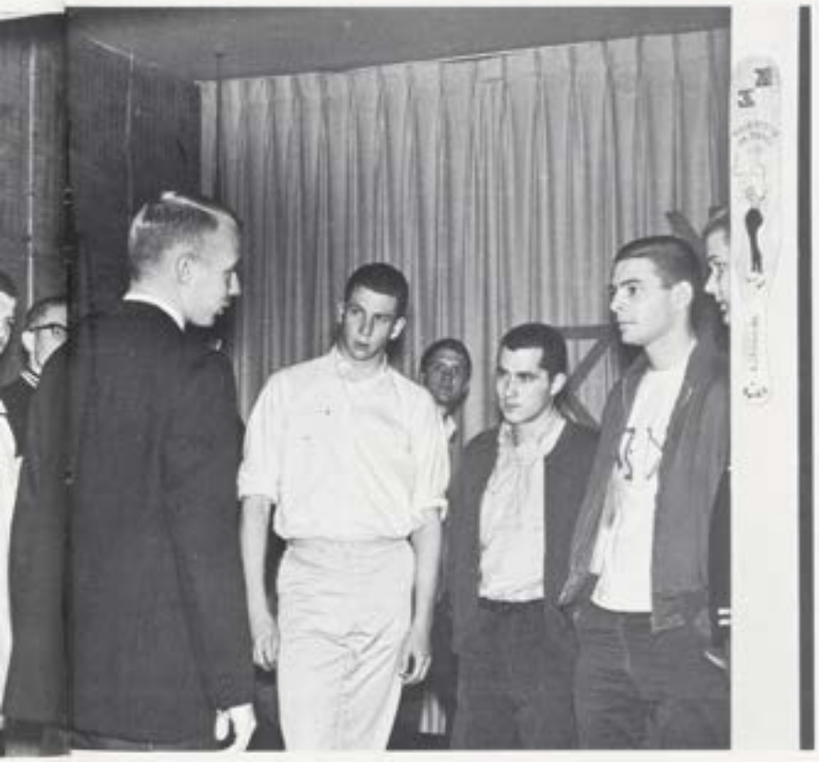
As we have in the past, we plan to continue as big brothers for the children at the Methodist Home in Richmond. We also plan to continue our canvassing of the Ashland area during the Christmas season for contributions for some needy family which we support at this time. Our Alumni House Fund Drive will continue on an even larger scale. In connection with this drive, an informative newsletter concerning important current and planned activities will be sent out to all alumni this year.

Aided by a strong pledge class, this has indeed been a good year for Kappa Sigma on the levels of scholarship, intramurals, social and extra-curricular activity, and civic projects. The future for the fraternity looks equally bright.



Not the Green Bay Packers but we had fun beating the LC's.

Bob and Jack survey some of the Christmas cheer donated to needy families.



"Tender words" of encouragement and instruction are conveyed to happy pledges.

One thing a pledge must learn is to hold a double chin and march.

Paul Bowles, the leader and president of this fraternity?

And then she said . . .

What's a banquet without food?

All we need is a few girls.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity made its entrance on the Randolph-Macon campus in the year 1906, only five years after the birth of the founding chapter of the University of Richmond. Although the fifth fraternity to be founded on the campus at that time our Virginia Zeta chapter early established itself as a leader in the campus affairs, and it has continued to maintain that position as an important driving force in all phases of campus life, not only academic but social, athletic and governmental as well. This year Sigma Phi Epsilon plays an exceptionally important role in the governmental area of campus life in that the fraternity president, Paul Bowles, is also president of the Randolph-Macon student government and Richard Ammons, the fraternity vice-president, is also vice-president of the Junior Class. Our other fraternity officers are Robert Scott in the office of Treasurer, Bernard Carpenter acting as historian and Elmo Lanney as secretary. We also have a good representation in the school athletics. We have three very promising SPE pledges on the Randolph-Macon football team; Billy Wagstaff, Claude Brewer, and George Lowery. The soccer team has had the enthusiastic participation of Clarence Johnson for four years. Clarence is also president of the Intramural Council and a member of the athletic board. We are also represented on the swimming team in the person of Richard Ammons who is co-captain. Dick also holds at present several of the schools swimming records. Sigma Phi Epsilon also ranks in the National Honorary Societies. Brother Paul Bowels is a member of both Omicron Delta Kappa and Beta Beta Beta. Brother Richard Ammons and Brother Charles Taylor are active in Circle K International. Dick is last year's Lieutenant-governor of Circle K and Brother Taylor is the present lieutenant-governor. The SPE's are also represented in the Randolph-Macon Student Education Association by Brother Felton Graham and Brother David Meade. The SPE's representative on the Yellow Jacket Weekly is Brother Charles Taylor.

As can be easily seen we possess an adequate and strong position of leadership in most all the campus activities and it is our sincere desire to continue and to expand our work for the betterment of both the fraternity and our school.

The theme of this year's Yellow Jacket Annual is one of change in and on the campus. Sigma Phi Epsilon readily fits into this theme of change. The change in Sigma Phi Epsilon is not a recent thing, rather it has been going on for a long time, a constant and unified attempt for improvement. Last year the SPE's did an excellent job at renovating and remodeling the basement for use as a recreational area. Further plans are in the process of being formulated for the purpose of continuing this effort this year. In addition to this, other improvements in our house include plans for the converting of the back porch into a television room.

These few projects are among the more important immediate plans we hold. Our future looks bright indeed. We have this year initiated nineteen new pledges to follow in the steps of our present brothers.

We now hold important and responsible positions on the campus and we believe that nothing can come of us but better things. We have established a very respectable record in our past activities and continue to do so now. It is now up to our new pledges to maintain and uphold the color and tradition of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity while mingling with it a feeling of forward motion, an active progression toward a bright and promising future.

Did you say a girl!

Who said intramural football is fun?

Just wait til that cameraman leaves.

The history of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity on the R-MC campus begins with the founding of the Sigma Phi Mu local fraternity on December 14, 1922, by four students of the college. In April of 1923, this local fraternity was established as Gamma Chapter of Alpha Phi Epsilon, a state fraternity. By 1926 the APE's were petitioning Theta Kappa Nu, a national fraternity, for a charter. This charter was granted in April of the same year. Dr. Frank L. Day was secured as TKN's faculty advisor at this time.

In August of 1939, a most important event took place — twenty-eight chapters of Theta Kappa Nu joined with 78 chapters of Lambda Chi Alpha; thus a national fraternity of 106 member chapters came into being.

As this national fraternity flourished, so did the chapter at Randolph-Macon. In 1943 when the nation was at war, LCA was the only fraternity at R-MC that was strong enough to stay active.

Through the years the LCA's had more than their share of student government and Senior class presidents. In the last 15 years the chapter has produced six student government presidents and five Senior class presidents. For the last eleven years, a member of the Kappa Tau chapter had headed the Randolph-Macon football team as captain. In 1958 Dave Yound was elected All American guard, and last year Leroy Davenport was named as an end.

Several brothers of Kappa Tau have returned to do their Alma Mater service in administrative and teaching capacities. Lambuth Clarke, '44, is the college Vice President; Frank S. Crim, '54, is the Dean of men; Marshall J. McNeal, '30, is the college Treasurer; Dr. Richard Grove, '47, is professor of physics; and Dr. G. B. Oliver, '49, is professor of History and head of the same department. Dr. Thomas Hawkins, '27, is the chaplain of Randolph-Macon College.

Since their inception on the Randolph-Macon campus, the Lambda Chi's have prospered and developed in the many areas of campus activities. In athletics this year, the Lambda Chi's had 14 members on the football squad with the Jackets' leading ground gainer for the past two years, Jack Luck, leading the way. There were also 3 members on the basketball team, 5 on the baseball team, 6 on the track, 1 on the tennis team, and 4 on the soccer team.

In other activities, Lambda Chi brother Bill Weinberg was on the Social Activities Committee, Jim Maxwell was chairman of the Judicial Council, Jim Sanderlin was on the Board of Review, Lindsay Shuff was I.F.C. president, and Jim Matthews was Circle K president international.

There were seven Lambda Chi's selected to Who's Who in American Colleges; Weinberg, Bob Pennington, Maxwell, Sanderlin, Matthews, Bill Kagey, and Shuff.

In Honorary fraternities the Chi's were represented by three men in Omicron Delta Kappa; Matthews, president; Maxwell, secretary; and Weinberg. Members of Pi Gamma Mu were Maxwell, Matthews, Weinberg, and Sanderlin. In Chi Beta Phi were Kagey, local president and regional president; Pennington, treasurer; and Steve Custer. Maxwell was local and national president of Tau Kappa Alpha and Scott Colley was a member. Weinberg was a member of Pi Delta Epsilon.

Wiseman goes hot on the news!

Luther and the gang say "be sociable."

Theta Chi Fraternity was founded at Norwich University, Norwich, Vermont on April 10, 1856 by two students or "cadets" of that institution. Since that time, chapters have sprung up at many colleges and universities across that country and our ranks are among the strongest in the Fraternity World.

Gamma Chi Chapter was established here at Randolph-Macon in 1949 and occupied a house which was removed to enable the construction of Blinco Soccer Field. In the relatively short period of thirteen years, Gamma Chi chapter has developed from a new Fraternity into one of seasoned success. In 1955, we moved to our present house and location at 113 College Avenue across the street from Thomas Branch Dormitory.

During the past few years we have devoted a greater part of our energies toward turning a house into a Fraternity. Our numbers represent a varied selection of geographically distant young men who are united in the goals and ideals for which Theta Chi stands. More specifically, our members have taken an active part in affairs on campus. We have a brother on the Judicial Council and many brothers lending their efforts to such campus activities as The Walter Hinds Page Club, The Glee Club, The Yellow Jacket Weekly, The Social Activities Board, Washington Literary Society, and the varsity club. This renewed interest in extracurricular activities has also enabled Theta Chi to grow.

Socially, Gamma Chi Chapter has always been active. Augmenting the usual "spirited" combo and record parties, our second annual Christmas Season Faculty egg nog reception and open house has enabled brothers and members of the faculty and staff to strike up friendships out of the classroom. We believe that these contacts are most valuable and can present a beneficial facet of collegiate life which Randolph-Macon sometimes neglects. Since this is a smaller school the student faculty relationships should become closer.

Our projects this year include more house improvement. In the past few years, we have been able to paint the house inside and out and to install some paneling. This year's goal is to refinish the floors and to put up more paneling. After we have done all this heavier work, we will be able to concentrate on furnishings and the appointments which create the best possible atmosphere.

Other campus interests have been popular at Theta Chi. In intramurals we have always taken an active role, deriving hours of good clean fun from football, volleyball, basketball, and softball games. Our bridge team ranked fourth in the first annual bridge tournament held last fall proving that brain as well as braun is represented in Theta Chi.

Theta Chi has been growing for thirteen years on the Randolph-Macon campus. It was founded such a short time ago and has taken such giant steps forward since the very first year that people are amazed that it could have ever been done and was done. We have gained a position among other Fraternities who have been here years longer. Theta Chi has been branded many favorable titles in the past and some not so favorable, but above it all we shall strive to better ourselves and our brotherhood and do all in our power to enhance the general status of the entire Fraternity System.

The college fraternity system is as old as the Republic for which it serves, for it was in 1776 that the first secret Greek-letter society came into existence. It was the custom in those days for the students of the College of William and Mary, the second oldest college in America, to gather in the Apollo room of the Raleigh Tavern in Williamsburg, Virginia, to discuss the affairs of the day. On the night of December 5, 1775, five close companions stayed after the others had left and when they arose to go, Phi Beta Kappa had been born. It wasn't until some years later that Phi Beta Kappa became a scholarship honor society such as it is today. However, by then there were numerous others to take its place. One of these others was Alpha Epsilon Pi.

Alpha Epsilon Pi was founded at New York University on November 7, 1913. It was the first national social fraternity to be founded at the Washington Square Campus of New York University. Since that time, it has grown markedly and in a period of forty-nine years, has increased to ninety chapters.

The "Apes," as we are called on campus, have a well-rooted dogma in which each one of us takes pride in upholding. We believe that the college fraternity must regard itself as an integral part of the institution in which it is located. It not only must be amenable to the rules and regulations of the college institution, but must share in all the college responsibilities of the undergraduate. The college fraternity must match the discipline of the college administration, and must accept the added responsibility incident to the supervision of group life. Furthermore, the college fraternity, we believe, with complete loyalty and allegiance to the college which sponsors it, has the duty of supporting in every possible way the institution of which it is a part.

Although AEPi is a fairly recent addition to the Randolph-Macon College Campus, we feel that we have imprinted our ideals in the minds of our fellow students and faculty associates by not only upholding the established Randolph-Macon fraternity tradition of building character, scholarship, and leadership, but also by going a step further and establishing the new tradition of making selection of our members strictly democratic and entirely free from religious, racial, or nationalistic prejudice.

The past year at Randolph-Macon has seen the brothers of AEPi in many noteworthy campus positions. A. J. Coffman earned the distinguished honors of being tapped by ODK, selected to Who's Who, and being chosen for Phi Beta Kappa. A. J. and former fraternity president, Gorden Scott, were respectively, the editor and associate editor of the Yellow Jacket Weekly. Mike Shack and Dave Wade served as copy editors for the Jacket Weekly. Dave was also Treasurer of the Washington Literary Society. The fact that all of the AEPi men who graduated last June are now in graduate school, exemplifies the emphasis which AEPi places on intellectual achievement.

At the present time, "Ape" activities include Glee Club, Randolph-Macon Players, and Washington Literary Society, of which brother Bennett Kemper is president. Mike Shack has the distinction of being a Judicial Council representative in addition to his work on the Yellow Jacket Weekly. The honorary fraternities have their share of AEPi's with Michael Passidomo in Beta Beta Beta, Mike Shack in Chi Beta Phi, and Dave Wade in Pi Delta Epsilon.

Alpha Epsilon Pi did not limit its achievements to the Randolph-Macon Campus however. A charity home in Richmond, The Richmond Home for Boys, was the sight of many evenings of concentrated effort to raise the academic standing and morale of the youths, all of whom attended the Richmond Public Schools. In addition to this, Father Pucci, priest at St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church, relied upon an AEPi to help him rebuild a small country church.

As a point of interest, the AEPi motto of the year remains "Pick up your staff and follow me to the promised house." This is our primary concern at the present and from the looks of things, it will be secured in the near future. With the successful appearance of our present rush program, the "Ape's" are looking forward to another prosperous year on campus; both academically and socially.

The R-MC Yellow Jacket dominates Homecoming decorations.

"See, I am bigger!"

"A handkerchief comrad?!"

"Stimulating the gray matter."

"What a show??!"

So, go back to Mother!

Student Government

Paul Bowles
President

Herb Widner
V. President

Ed Lilly
Sec. — Treas.

The Student Government of Randolph-Macon is comprised of the entire student body. Largely a sounding board and listening post for student activities, it serves the practical purpose of maintaining the democratic freedom on the campus by requiring each student to abide by the Constitution of the Student Government and the Honor Code. Under a recently revised constitution, the Student Senate now handles the many businesses of the organization formerly conducted in the all-student meetings held monthly in the auditorium. It is through the Student Government that many problems are heard and investigated through the various committees appointed by the president. It is also the duty of the Student Government officers and Senate to insure the coordination of the many elected committees and councils which comprise the various aspects of campus life.

John Gibson purchases his "delightful" fish cap and badge from Dick Ammons and Channing Brown.

Judicial Council

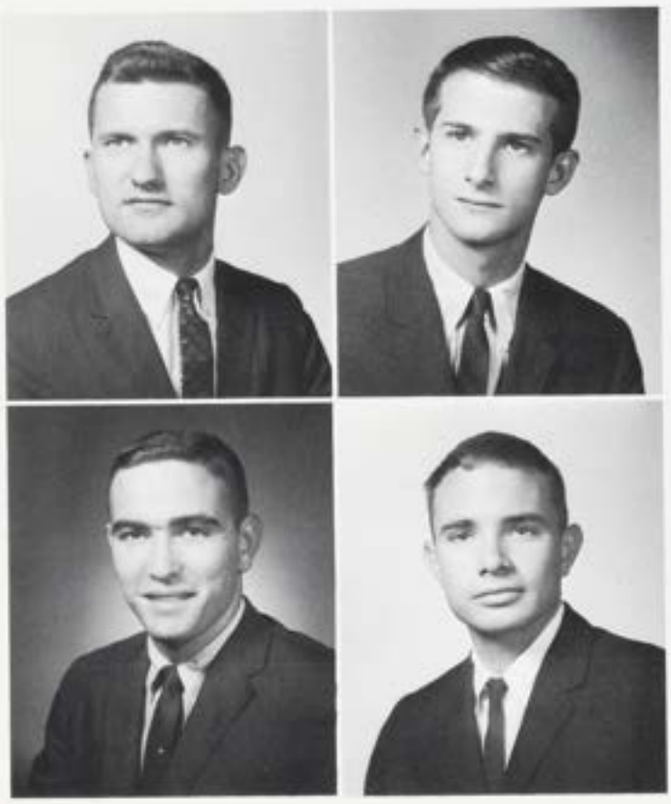
The Judicial Council was incorporated under this name in the late 1940's. Prior to this time the functions of the Council were conducted by a Board of Monitors, which in turn had taken over the judicial functions of the Student Council. The history of these bodies reveals a firm effort on the part of the Student Government to maintain the prestige of Randolph-Macon's esteemed Honor System.

The Judicial Council is composed of seven members, three juniors, three seniors, and one member elected at large. The Council is charged with the responsibility of deciding the validity of suspected violations of the Honor Code, compliance to which is expected of all Randolph-Macon students. The Code covers lying, stealing, and cheating on campus or in respect to campus-related activities. The college prides itself not only in this long-standing tradition, but the inherent honesty of its students.

L. to R. 1st ROW: Mike Shack, Bill Owen, Jim Dalton. 2nd ROW: Jim Maxwell, Bill Chambers, John Crumpler, John Solgotko.

Student Deans

The Student Deans occupy a most important position in the Student Government's discharge of the Honor Code. Comprised of the four class presidents, it is the duty of the Student Deans to investigate all reported infractions of the Honor Code. After making a thorough investigation, the Deans then decide if the evidence warrants a trial of the accused by the Judicial Council. If they should find that such a trial is warranted, it is their further duty to draw up a trial brief to present to the Judicial Council when it is called into session.



L. to R. Charles Rinker, Senior; Sam Johnson, Junior; Henry Hurt, Sophomore; Thomas Neal, Freshman.

THE SENATE

The Student Senate is the representative body of the student government. Composed of delegates from each dormitory, fraternity and other important phases of campus life, this group meets monthly with officers of the student government to propose legislation that students feel necessary, and to authorize committees to deal with school problems. They discuss and debate various problems that are brought up.

As a representative body, the Senate authorizes its members to report to the group which they represent and to receive suggestions from them. Replacing the previous monthly meetings of the student body, the Senate can much more easily form a legislative branch of the Student Government.

Some of the major projects that the Senate has undertaken during the year have included chartering busses for important athletic events off campus, the presentation of the idea to have school sponsored films shown in the auditorium, and the possibility of organizing a Student Government sponsored social weekend.

BOARD OF REVIEW

The Board of Review is the appelate body in matters concerning Honor Code violations. Any action of the Judicial Council may be appealed to the Board by the student involved. The Board is composed of four faculty members appointed by the President of the College, and four students appointed by the President of the Student Body.

The Board of Review, in its appelate capacity, has the authority to uphold, reverse, or mitigate the decision made by the Judicial Council. Their decision is in all cases final.

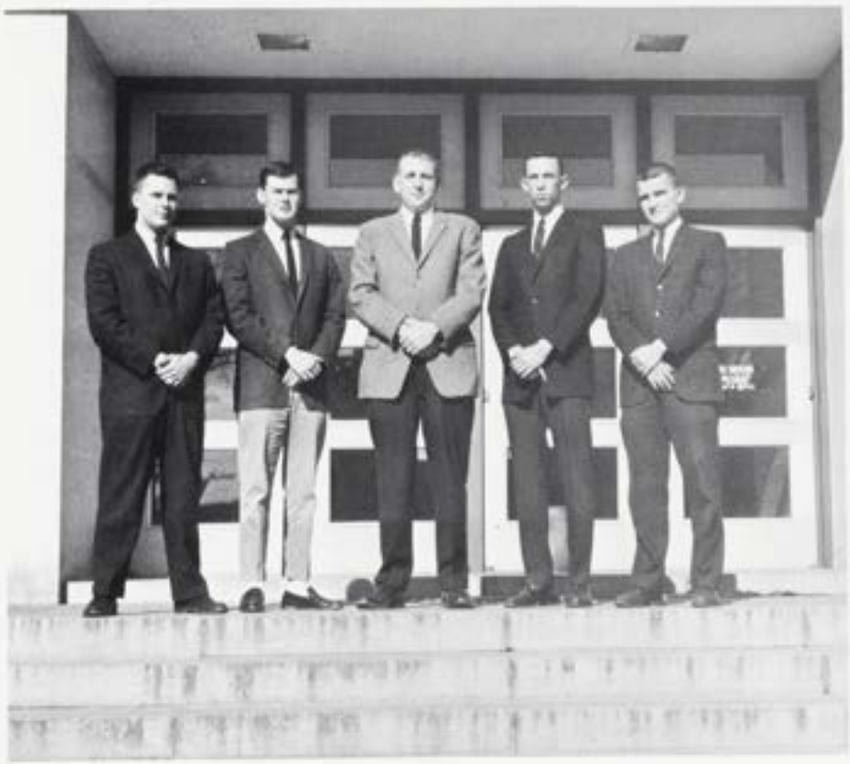
BOARD OF ELECTIONS



The Board of Elections is composed of a member from each class and a senior election judge, appointed by the Student Government President. The Board supervises all campus Student Government elections — the Senate, class officers, boards, and Student Government officers.

BOARD OF EDITORS

Created by the new constitution of 1961, the Board for the Selection of Editors is composed of the editors of campus publications — the YELLOW JACKET WEEKLY, the YELLOW JACKET ANNUAL, the literary magazine, and FISHTALES — and four members of the faculty, three appointed by the President of the College, and the advisor of of Pi Delta Epsilon. The Board is responsible for the selection of editors for the publications. It also acts in an advisory capacity without censorship powers, and is responsible for seeing that the publications are published as scheduled during the school year.

1963 YELLOW JACKET ANNUAL

To the recording of the activities and associations concerning Randolph-Macon College, the Yellow Jacket Annual is devoted. Founded in 1899 by the Washington Literary Society, the annual is a record of these events over the previous years.

Early in the summer the staff begins plans for the next volume. The pages are laid out and waiting for the students to return in the fall. During the year the numerous pictures are taken and the large amount of copy is written along with captions and art work.

In the early spring, the culmination of almost an entire year's work is shipped off to the publisher. Then at the end of the school year, the staff finally gets the opportunity to see the results of diligent work.

The annual serves a two-fold purpose. Aside from its serving as a written record of each school year, the Yellow Jacket staff gives an outlet for the students to display their journalistic abilities and to assume the responsibility of turning out an award winning publication.

YELLOW JACKET

With many new columns and innovations, the Yellow Jacket Weekly took on a new look this year. In the past this newspaper has been an award winning publication, priding itself on its strong "student run" character. Excellent editorial columns give the paper a stand on school-wide and national issues of current interest. Notable events and features are also included.

The staff combines its efforts to publish twenty-four issues a year, including a special Homecoming issue. The daily efforts of the staff extend late into the night and have earned the Yellow Jacket Weekly the reputation of being one of the hardest working activities at the college. During the year, a combination of two hundred man hours of work is put into the publication.

Randolph-Macon's radio station was established in 1956 through the joint cooperation of the students and administration. As the newest organization on campus, it had a tough time breaking into the scheme of campus affairs.

WRBM is now a full-time operation for many students, who are interested in radio work. As an F.C.C. chartered and regulated station, WRBM provides training for these students planning to go into communications work. Students handle the entire operation including announcing, news editing, engineering, programming, and the functions of administrating the station affairs. S. R. Woodzell will be the Station Manager for the 1962-63 session.

Broadcasting at 635 kc, on all AM radios, WRBM offers chances to any student who is looking for a challenging and stimulating extracurricular activity.

FISH-TALES

RANDOLPH-MACON COLLEGE

1962-63

Paul Raino
Business Manager

Fish Tales is Randolph-Macon's official handbook prepared to introduce new students into life at the college and to provide a source of information about activities on campus for all students. It is the job of the staff to assemble all the information concerning the administrative, social, academic, athletic, and governmental phases of the school.

During the year, the members of the staff plan and lay out pages which are sent to the printer for publication during the summer. Advertisements are also obtained by the business staff to be included in the book before it is ready for distribution to students at the beginning of each session. This past year, under the editorship of Bill Owen, the boys continued the trend set recently with the inclusion of revised write-ups, new art work, up to date photographs, and other necessary features which go to make up such an essential publication.

CIRCLE K

Jim Dalton
President

Circle-K International at Randolph-Macon was issued its certificate of organization on October 26, 1955. A college-level service organization, Circle-K is sponsored by Kiwanis International, and has as its objectives the encouragement of participation in group activities, the promotion of good fellowship, and high scholarship.

In the past, Circle-K has originated and aided such projects as Parents' Day, Alumni Day, Homecoming, March of Dimes, the Bloodmobile, and many other service projects.

During the summer, senior Jim Matthews was elected by the International Convention, meeting in San Diego, Calif., to be International President of Circle-K. Randolph-Macon also served as the host to the fall meeting of the Capital District Board Meeting.

KERN CENTER COUNCIL

The Kern Center Council is the organization which organizes and plans campus religious activities. It coordinates the groups that are representative of the various religious faiths on campus. Founded by Dr. John A. Kern, a past president of the college, the Council runs the Kern Center which, under the direction of Chaplain Lawson, is a meeting place for such religious groups.

As a part of the program to promote religious life in college, the members present the "Time-out" program in the chapel. This is a time set aside for silent prayer in a serene atmosphere and is open to all students. Brotherhood Week is sponsored by the group each year. Among its other activities is the annual Kern Center Lectures which highlights the year with a visiting guest speaker. This past year, the school was proud to have Dr. Carl E. Michelson from Drew Theological Seminary for the lectures.

President

The Clericus is a group for all students who interpret their vocational objectives as one of Christian service. Meeting monthly in the Kern Center, the group engages in discussion groups and other informal programs on varied topics of interest to the members. Among the many services that the organization provides for the community of Ashland is that of serving as Sunday school teachers for the various local churches. Guest speakers are also brought to campus through the work of Clericus members.

During the year, the boys serve as discussion leaders at various retreats such as the one held at Hopewell, Virginia, this past spring. Its purpose being to enlighten its members of their prospective vocation, the Clericus arranges interviews with prominent seminary representatives and other church leaders when they are on campus.

The Student Fellowship is an inter-denominational group providing an all-campus membership organization for religious activities of all Protestant Christian students not involved in another student program. It meets each Sunday in the Fellowship Hall of Duncan Memorial Church for supper, recreation, discussion, and worship. The group is affiliated with the World Student Christian Federation, The Methodist Student Movement, the YMCA, The Baptist Student Union, and other denominational movements.

WASHINGTON LITERARY SOCIETY

This year the Washington Literary Society, the third oldest organization of its type in the nation, celebrated its 130th anniversary with the biennial issue of STYLUS — the Randolph-Macon College Magazine. The journal is to continue as the campus magazine of creativity and academic scholarship.

In the early years of the Society on the original campus near Boydton, Virginia, the association maintained the college library and provided the student body with the only opportunity then available for ideological expression by the scheduling of forensic activities twice during each week.

In maintaining this tradition "Wash Hall" sponsors debates, public speaking contests, and literary activities throughout the year. The Society brings prominent literary figures to campus in the spring, and in the past few years the Society has had the pleasure of presenting Richard Wilbur, Horace Gregory, Richard Eberhart, and Howard Nemerov. In March of 1963 the Society's visiting lecturer was the noted essayist, poet, and novelist John Crowe Ransom.

Although the organization has undergone changes and modernization, the Washington Literary Society remains Randolph-Macon College's great academic tradition.

FRANKLIN FORENSIC SOCIETY

Only recently re-established on campus, the Franklin Forensic Society has attained a prominent position around the organizations in leading Randolph-Macon to victory in several regional and national debates. The organization conducts many activities throughout the year to orient its members in the useful ability of oral expression. Aside from inter-collegiate debates, the society plans debates and instruction for its members. The members also present oral reports and extemporaneous speeches.

Some of the highlights of the year were the victory over the Oxford University debaters and a large inter-collegiate debate at Johns Hopkins University where many colleges were represented. Under the advisorship of Professor Edgar MacDonald, the group maintains a chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, a national honorary forensic fraternity. Through this organization, many other debates are organized.

UNITED NATIONS AFFILIATE OF RANDOLPH-MACON

Through the auspices of UNARM, Phillip Deane, guest speaker, was invited to R-M during the year.

Founded in 1962 by a group of students interested in the United Nations, UNARM is composed of those men who are interested in international relations in general or the operation of the United Nations in particular. Membership in the club is unlimited but certain requirements must be met to obtain membership. Meetings are held twice a month. UNARM is affiliated with the Collegiate Council of the United Nations. Through this group well-known speakers can be obtained including members of the United States State Department, members of the United Nations Secretariat, and members of any delegation represented in the United Nations. The Collegiate Council of the United Nations is actively at work on more than five-hundred campuses across the United States.

Speakers brought to the Randolph-Macon campus through UNARM include Philip Deane, head of the United States information service for the United Nations and Frank Hefner, an official from the State Department.

Although 1962-1963 was the first full year of existence for UNARM, it was one of the most active organizations on campus.

WALTER HINES PAGE CLUB

Powers Thomas
President

The 1962-63 program of the Walter Hines Page Club has continued to revolve around the issues of international concern. Of key importance this year has been the Berlin question, the Cuban armament build-ups, and revived appraisal of the Marxist doctrine. Since the club is equally concerned with domestic problems, the Federal Reserve and United States gold shortage were timely subjects on the agenda. To balance out the unfortunate trouble spots the second half of the year has been concentrated on agricultural surplus, South Viet Nam, India, and the United Nations.

Due to full schedules of academic and extra curricular activities, the club cannot boast of its past large membership. However, the intellectual stimulus is present on the R-MC campus. The Walter Hines Page Club will carry on the tradition of bringing top-flight speakers to the campus to provide this stimulus.

CONSERVATIVE SOCIETY

The Randolph-Macon Conservative Society was formed during the fall semester of 1962. Its officers are composed of a president, treasurer, and executive council which is composed of the president, treasurer, and three elected members. Organized mainly through the efforts of Wiley Gary and John Swezey, the group's first officers were Wiley Gary, president; John Swezey, treasurer; and John Crumpler, Henry Hurt, and Ken Tomlinson, members of the executive council.

The main purpose of the society is to air conservative views and to stimulate new approaches to the conservative school of thought. At the present, the society is not affiliated with any national organization.

Principle activities this year have centered around guest speakers and discussion groups directed by various members of the organization.

STUDENT EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

The B. G. Childs chapter at Randolph-Macon College of the Student Virginia Education Association is one of fourteen chapters in Virginia that are chartered through the Virginia Education Association and the Student National Education Association — an integral part of the National Education Association. These chapters have the purposes of developing an understanding of the teaching profession; of informing its members of the history, ethics, organizations, policies, and program of local, state, and national education associations; of interesting capable young men and women in education as a lifelong career; and of giving its members experiences in working together and in working with local, state, and national education associations. Membership is open to anyone interested in teaching as a career.

WIND ENSEMBLE

The Wind Ensemble, under the direction of Mr. Ward, has added its share to life on the R-MC campus. They receive little credit, but we realize they would certainly be missed at athletic events, where they are better known as the Pep Band. With the growing interest in this organization the years ahead hold many possibilities, perhaps even a fine concert group or marching unit of the future.

Three times each week the old chapel resounds to the brass and woodwinds. Mr. Ward guides the group along popular and classical lines.

RANDOLPH MACON PLAYERS

The Randolph-Macon Players have undertaken during the past year, a reorganization of the group under the name of the "Society of Dramatic Arts." The membership is relatively new and composed of freshmen and sophomores. "Arsenic and Old Lace" was the fall presentation of the group with a spring production underway. The full extent of the club's activities are not totally realized on the campus. Many members aid in neighboring Barksdale Theatre productions, both in dramatic roles and backstage technical assistance.

The Randolph-Macon College Glee Club, under the direction of Professor R. D. Ward, has received acolades for its fine musical work. Each member must pass an audition before becoming a part of the club. They practice constantly, however, to retain the high quality they have reached.

Organized in 1898, the Glee Club has offered a fine array of classical music to the college as well as the general public. Each spring they go on tour and in the past have traveled from New York to Florida. They also sing at various assemblies and chapels during the year. Under a recent ruling members are entitled to academic credit for their work in the organization. In conjunction with other colleges around the state, the Glee Club has toured such schools as Roanoke, Westhampton, and Mary Washington during the year.

Members and dates tour the campus, Christmas caroling before the holiday recess.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Phi Beta Kappa is a national honorary society that recognizes among students and alumni excellence in scholarship. No more than ten per cent of the members of the senior class may be invited to membership in any year, and these are designated as members-in-course. Alumni may be invited to membership on the basis of their academic attainments since their graduation, and no more than three alumni may be invited to membership in any triennium.

Phi Beta Kappa was founded at the College of William and Mary on December 5, 1776. On May 3, 1923, Randolph-Macon College was given membership as the Ashland Section of the Delta of Virginia. On April 19, 1938 Randolph-Macon College was given a separate charter as the Zeta of Virginia.

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges was founded in 1934, the first volume of the publication being printed for the 1934-35 school year. Each year approximately 600 American schools are represented in the organization.

Nominations for inclusion in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges are made by the faculty of the college; final choice then rests with a committee representing the Faculty and administrative staff.

Nominations are made in consideration of the student's scholarship, his participation and leadership in extra-curricular activities, his citizenship and service to the school, and his promise of future usefulness.

CHI BETA PHI

Chi Beta Phi

In 1916, students and faculty members of Randolph-Macon College interested in scientific investigations founded Chi Beta Phi, a scientific fraternity. Since 1916, Chi Beta Phi has become a national honorary scientific fraternity with thirty-five chapters spread from New York to Georgia and as far west as Iowa. Chi Beta Phi's colors are colonial blue and crimson, and the fraternity flower is the cape jasmine.

Interested in promoting scientific affairs, Chi Beta Phi is co-sponsor of the Science Open House. Students from state schools showing superior ability in the sciences are invited to Randolph-Macon each Spring to demonstrate or display their scientific achievements.

This home chapter of one of the outstanding national scientific fraternities has brought credit to Randolph-Macon. Dr. W. F. Boldridge, the advisor of Alpha Chapter, is now serving as National President of Chi Beta Phi. Memberships are by invitation to those who have shown superior ability and a special aptitude for the natural sciences and mathematics.

The Alpha Nu Chapter of Beta Beta Beta, national honorary biological fraternity, was founded at Randolph-Macon in 1945. Its purpose is to foster an interest in the field of biology and to provide members with special projects which will increase their knowledge of the biological sciences.

Each year Beta Beta Beta, along with Chi Beta Phi, sponsors the Science Open House. This enables outstanding science majors to display their knowledge. Area high school seniors also have a chance to compete by bringing projects of their own.

Various trips about the state are sponsored during the year. In recent years these included the Gloucester Point fish hatchery, the Medical College of Virginia, and several lectures at other colleges and universities by top men in their respective fields.

Pi Delta Epsilon was founded on the campus of Syracuse University, December 6, 1909 and is the oldest national honorary collegiate journalism fraternity in the country. The Randolph-Macon College chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon was established in 1940.

The keystone upon which the fraternity was built is SERVICE. With this in mind, the fraternity strives to reward the journalists working on the student publications for their efforts, services, and accomplishments by admission to its membership. Part of the work of Pi Delta Epsilon is educational in that it strives to teach the ethics, techniques and mechanics of journalism.

One of the local chapter projects this year has been to sponsor workshops, led by professionals, for each of the campus publications. Another project which the chapter sponsors is a reward to the Freshman Journalist of the Year.

PI GAMMA MU

Pi Gamma Mu, a national social science honor society, has as its major goals the improvement of scholarship in the social studies, the achievement of an appreciation of the inter-related nature of the various social sciences, and the development of an intelligent approach to the solution of social problems. Pi Gamma Mu was founded as a national society in 1924 and now has more than one hundred active chapters in colleges and universities and more than fifty thousand members. Virginia Eta Chapter at Randolph-Macon was established on February 17, 1949. Membership in the chapter is extended on the basis of distinguished scholarship or service in the fields of social science.

Tau Kappa Alpha, a national honorary forensic fraternity, was founded in Indianapolis in 1908. In 1911, Randolph-Macon along with Richmond College established the Virginia Region of TKA; our distinguished alumnus, J. Rives Worsham of Norfolk, was the first president of the chapter.

To become eligible for TKA honors, a student must have participated at least two years in a forensic activity, he must have demonstrated superior ability as a debater, discussant, or original speaker, and he must rank in the upper 35 per cent of his college class.

Mr. Edgar E. MacDonald currently serves as the Governor of the Virginia Region of TKA, composed of ten member colleges in the state. Senior Jim Maxwell served as president of the National Student Division.

The coaching staff of Randolph-Macon encourages all the students to use the facilities of the athletic department at every opportunity. It is their hope that through the use of the athletic plant the student will receive an integral part of his overall development.

Randolph-Macon offers a wide selection of varsity and intramural sports. While one might not be an active participant in one of the programs, his support of these activities is greatly appreciated by all the staff and varsity teams.

The 1962 football season began with high hopes for the fall as the upperclassmen welcomed a fine group of freshmen to the team. After a 22-0 win over Millersville the season indeed looked bright. As the season wore on things became darker, finally ending in a 2-6 overall record.

The poor record was offset by a fine performance from many players, including several freshmen. Junior Jack Luck had a rushing average of 4.1 and added to this by being picked for the All Mason-Dixon, All Little Eight, and All Methodist teams. Junior Bill Wester, Co-captain Don Robinson, and Co-captain Harry Hulvey must be recognized for their outstanding jobs on defense. Freshmen standouts include fullback Paul Scott, quarterbacks Skip D'Alessandro and Jack Frazee, and punting specialist Paul Gilliford.

SOCCER

The Maconite soccer squad finished their first year under Coach Helmut Werner, an All-American soccer player, with a 1-6-1 season. Although the record needs improvement the team has much to look forward to. The loss of several seniors will be felt but a young team now has gained valuable experience. Culminating four years of varsity play Jim Mathews was selected as first team goalie on the All-Southern team, a noteworthy accomplishment.

CROSS COUNTRY

Even though the cross country season ended with no wins, it was nevertheless fruitful. Coach Webb had only two returning upperclassmen in Captain Jim Anderson and Sandy Heard. However, the Freshmen helped greatly and with experience should prove that the coming years will indeed be fruitful. Freshmen Robbie Robinson and John Eby will be standouts and will have needed help from Jack Kibler, Don Randall, and Walt Credle.

BASKETBALL

On February 11, 1961, Washington College came to Alumni Gym in "Jacketland" and were handily defeated by R-MC. Since then, twenty-two other Jacket opponents have come in and have yet to win, and everyone is looking forward to the 1963-64 campaign with much enthusiasm to see just how far this streak can be extended.

The 1962-63 edition ended the regular season with a 20-5 record (not including two wins over service teams). The Yellow Jackets, coached by Paul Webb again won the Mason-Dixon Southern Division crown with a 12-2 record and also gathered in the Little Eight title with a ledger of 10 wins and two defeats.

Frank Kaminiski, a 6'6" junior-forward from Wilmington, Delaware, was the main cog in the Jacket machine. Kaminiski, who scored 573 points and ended the year with an average of 23.0 points per game, is now the third highest scorer in Randolph-Macon history and has a good chance of becoming the all-time scorer if he maintains his present pace. After three years Frank has scored 1351 points and trails Ken Joyner (1467) and Jack Whitcomb (1733). He also led the Yellow and Black in rebounding with a 18.5 average which ranks him seventh in the nation among small college players. After such a successful year, Kaminiski was selected as the State's top small college player, made first team All Mason-Dixon and All Little Eight, and has a good chance of repeating as Little All-American. He was also first team All Mason-Dixon Tournament.

Another star performer was junior-captain Bill Chambers. Usually known as a defensive specialist and playmaker, Chambers ended the year with a scoring average of 11.8 and as the team quarterback averaged eight assists per contest. His all-around performances earned him second team honors on the All Mason-Dixon team and was a first-team Little Eight choice. Bill was a second team All-Tourney choice, too. Chambers and Kaminiski will serve as co-captains in 1963-64.

Service returnee Billy Robinson and freshmen Irv Sentz and Stan Trimble rounded out the starting five which lost to Mt. St. Mary's by two points in the tournament finals. Robinson frequently helped the Jacket cause with an outside jumper or on a twisting drive. Sentz, a jump shot artist who took over when Alex Roberts was declared ineligible, came on strong and ended with an average of 16.2 and earned a spot on both the second team All M-D Tournament and Little Eight teams.

Trimble alternated between guard and forward and came on strong during the last few weeks of the season and finished at a 10.3 clip. He was also outstanding on defense and held his own on the boards.

John Bunsavage, the team's only senior, returned after a year's absence and was used as the number six man. With John rebounding like he can and swishing his long sweeping hook, the Jackets were hard to handle. Incidently, he finished second in rebounding for the year.

Randolph-Macon scored a total of 2149 points in twenty-five games which is an average of 85.9 points per encounter. This team, probably the only one in the league that stresses defense rather than offense, allowed the opposition only 1755 points, an average of 70 points per game.

Coaches Werner and McCutcheon discuss pre-meet strategy.

The 1963 season was bright indeed for the Jacket "mermen." Ending the season with a 6-2 record and second in the Little Eight Tournament, the team has much to look forward to. Records were set this year with honors going to sophomore John Wolfe in the 100, 200, and 500 yard freestyle and the 200 yard butterfly. Dick Ammons, holder of records set last year, teamed with Wolfe, Morriss, and Dunning to set the 400 medley record. Senior Richard Young is the only member to be lost next year, and his absence will be felt.

John Wolfe set another record as he goes on to win the 200 yd. butterfly against Roanoke College.

BASE

Captain Bill Chambers and Coach Stevens view prospects for the coming season.

The 1963 edition of the Randolph-Macon College baseball team, with only three starters returning from last year's squad, but many promising sophomores and freshmen, will try to successfully defend the Mason-Dixon Conference title they won a year ago.

Last year the Yellow Jacket nine compiled an overall record of 13 wins and six losses, as they finished with identical records (5-3) in the Mason-Dixon and Little Eight races. Incidently, the conference title was Coach Hugh Stephen's fifth in twelve years as R-MC head coach, while it was the eighth time that a Stephens coached team has won the Southern Division crown.

Returning lettermen who will form a nucleus for this year's team will be Bill Chambers, Stuart Hopewell, Wayne Roach, and Vic Sakellarios. Chambers, a senior third baseman who has been 1st team All-Mason-Dixon Conference for three straight years, was the second leading hitter last year and will serve as captain in 1963.

Hopewell will return and battle some freshman prospects for his familiar shortstop position, as will Roach at first base. Sakellarios, who came into stardom in the post-season championship games last season at third base when Chambers was moved to short, will also be counted upon.

A fire-balling right-hander, Bitsy Ihlenfeld, has returned from the service and will probably be the mainstay of the mound staff. Another serviceman, John Falconer, has also returned to the diamond crew. Six starters and three reserves were lost through graduation last June. Centerfielder Bobby McConnell, a freshman who led the team in hitting and an ALL MD choice, has been lost because of academic difficulties, as has Jerry Moore, ace reliefer-starter and a second team Mason-Dixon choice last year.

Stan Trimble, Norris Strickland, Buzzy Hofler, Tommy Hogue, Bill MacLaughlin, Bruce Van Leuver, Richard Weis, Claude Brewer and Archie Rose are some of the top candidates for the many jobs that have been vacated.

Missing from last year's champions are Jeff Applegate, Parker Dillard, Mac Felts, Wayne Hennage, Budge Kent, Walt Pendley, Bill Reade, and Booda Walthall.

KNEELING, L-R: Vic Sakellarios, Wayne Roach, John Ihlenfeld, Norris Strickland, Boyce Reid. STANDING: Tom Hogge, John McCaa, John Faulconer, Chas. D'Alessandro, Bob Stearns, Van Lenven.

The loss of last year's tri-captains, John Clay, Austin Bishop, and Phil Johnson will weaken the Jacket thin clads. All three hold college records in their specialties: John Clay — mile run 4:26.6; 880 yard run 2:01.4; Phil Johnson — 440 yard dash 50.0; Austin Bishop — pole vault 12' ¾". Other records not reported from last season include: Stuart Masters, discus throw 137'3"; Ganaris, Moll, Barger, Johnson 3:30.4. Three of these four are returning letter men and are expected to join other stand outs Ed Turnage, Randy Hiner, Doug Carneal, Tom Czechowski and Steve Custer. Coach Keller is optimistic with several freshmen adding depth to the Jacket sprinters. Additional surface material has been added to the track as well as an extra lane for the sprints.

Bill Weinberg returns a hard serve in early season practice.

With four of the first six men returning this year the outlook for tennis should be optimistic. A great deal will depend on the play of some of the freshmen. Seven of the sixteen man squad are freshmen.

Of the upper-classmen Monroe Baisden, John Wolfe, Dave Warden, and Bill Weinberg are expected to carry the biggest load. The four, five, and sixth positions are open and tough competition is foreseen.

Last year's team, with an 8-8 record, was under the part-time coaching of Dr. Franklin Ross Jones. This year with the college's first full time coach and having lost only one from last year's team, the squad can look forward to a very successful season.

LACROSSE

Player-Coach
Rye Chapman

1963 is a year of growth for athletics at R-M-C. The college has offered support for a varsity lacrosse team and student interest is excellent. Under the able leadership of player-coach Rye Chapman, the stickmen squad has much to look forward to and an equal amount of building to do. With aid from the college and the National Lacrosse Coaches Association this team is the pioneer for many teams of the future. With about twenty members on the squad, experience and learning are the keynotes. Several boys have had some experience and their help will prove invaluable. As little is known about the members all we can do is wish them the best for a successful season and add that next year outstanding players will be known. Lacrosse will soon become an important and noteworthy varsity team at R-M.C

GOLF

Due to the absence of a golf course on which to play, the 1963 Randolph-Macon golf team has planned a limited schedule for the coming season. At the beginning of the season, three away matches had been scheduled and more will be played if a home course can be obtained. Having lost only one player from last year's squad, prospects for the 1963 campaign are improved. Returning lettermen include Bill Rueger, Bill Greene, Sam Johnson, and Worth Landis in addition to Dennis Ertel and Bill Waechter, who saw limited action last year. Freshman prospects include Ned Morgan and Juddy Cobb.

ASSOCIATION OF EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

IN THE VIRGINIA METHODIST CONFERENCE

The staff of the Yellow Jacket Annual for 1963 would like to express its appreciation to the members of the Association of Educational Institutions of the Virginia Methodist Conference for the vital part they have had, and are having, in the current development of Randolph-Macon College, as well as the other Methodist-related institutions and Wesley Foundations in Virginia. Dr. Parker was also the director of the recently completed financial campaign which is contributing directly to the building program of our College. We are indeed grateful to all persons who have had a part in this successful endeavor.

HIGHER EDUCATION CAMPAIGN BANQUET

Bishop Paul Neff Garber is speaking to a group of Methodist laity, ministers and wives at the initial banquet for the campaign. Bishop Garber was a key figure in the campaign, giving his full support to this undertaking by Virginia Conference Methodist. The students of Randolph-Macon College are grateful for the spirit and labor of Bishop Garber, as demonstrated throughout program. The fruit of his labors are now being realized in the immediate building program of the College.

BISHOP PAUL N. GARBER
