FOREWORD

Life at Randolph-Macon contains many facets. All students follow their own intellectual and extra-curricular pursuits in line with their own individual initiative. All of these various endeavors constitute the school year.

The 1961 Yearbook will attempt to portray these activities that made up this past year at Randolph-Macon. In order to do this, we have created a school calendar on the preceding pages. On this calendar, we have placed pictures that typify the respective months. In addition to this, many of these pictures will again appear in the section dividers. These photos will represent one aspect of our lives at Randolph-Macon College.

We hope that this Yearbook will capture the spirit of the 1960-61 school year, and that it will create a memorable pictorial record that will be remembered by student and professor of Randolph-Macon.

DEDICATION

Dr. A. Chambers Ray, Jr. served Randolph-Macon College for more than twenty-six years as Resident Physician. An alumnus of the Class of '27, he brought to the discharge of his duties a sense of loyalty and dedication which, added to his recognized standing and ability as a physician, meant very much to the college. His service to faculty and students alike was a personalized service. He took a friendly interest in those to whom he gave medical attention and aid. He was particularly gifted as a diagnostician, and all Randolph-Macon men were the beneficiaries. His life and work will remain as a valuable part of our enobling traditions.

Dr. A. Chambers Ray, Jr., M.D.; College Physician

ADMINISTRATION

The Administration of Randolph-Macon College has an unending job. There is always something to be done that will aid the college. The registration of students for a new semester is only a small part of their curriculum throughout the calendar year. This vital group of men and women will therefore welcome the addition of new offices. They will occupy the old library in the ensuing years. With these added facilities, the administrative staff will be able to carry out their duties with greater ease and efficiency.

THE PRESIDENT

J. Earl Moreland, A.M., LL.D., L.H.D.

"We have now come to record the completion of one-hundred and thirty-one years in the history of our beloved college. We do so with pride in its past record and achievements, particular pride in the men who have gone out from these halls to honor Randolph-Macon through their lives and achievements, and with great expectations for the future. We come to the close of this session, also, with a prayer that God may richly bless all Randolph-Macon men and our college."

CLASSES

Randolph-Macon provides every opportunity for the conscientious student to gain an education. Throughout the calendar year, each student attends the different classes of his own preference. These individual classes are conducted within the walls of many beautiful buildings. Smithey Hall is just one example of Randolph-Macon's ability to provide ample facilities for the college man in his pursuit of a liberal arts education. More buildings such as this will soon be built on our ever growing campus.

ACTIVITIES

Life at Randolph-Macon is very diversified. Every student is able to find some outside activity which he enjoys. There are many fine organizations on the campus which help the whole college community. Blackwell Auditorium provides the setting for an activity in which all students may participate. This is the monthly Student Government Meeting. Here any student may voice his opinion much like the democratic town meetings in New England. However, in order to have a more efficient Student Government, a new constitution has been prepared. This new document will increase the efficiency of our Student Government, and be a benefit to each individual on Randolph-Macon's campus.

STUDENT

THOMAS S. MYERS
President

Made up of the entire student body of Randolph-Macon College, the Student Government is the largest organization on campus. It is able to act both as a sounding board and listening post on all student activities. Through its various committees, the Student Government both organizes and regulates many of the activities of the student body.

The Student Government's overriding purpose is the insuring of democratic freedom on the Randolph-Macon campus. The organization accomplishes this aim by requiring each student to abide by the constitution of the Student Government and the Conduct and Honor Codes.

Through the many committees set up by the Student Government, a social activities calendar is maintained, funds are handled for various campus organizations, and compliance with the Conduct and Honor Codes is maintained.

Also Austin Bishop, Charles Emerson, Charles Rinker, Baxter Simons, and Tom Polhamus are active in track.

FRATERNITIES

Fraternities at Randolph-Macon are a vital part of each member's life during the academic year. These organizations do much to help the college as a whole. In order to get new members for these fraternal groups, each fraternity rushes the new men for a period of six weeks. At the end of this alloted period, the prospective members turn in their bids to the Interfraternity President. He initials them, and the new men then proceed to the fraternity house of their own choice. However to have still a better fraternal system, a new fraternity has been given a charter. This new Greek letter organization is called Alpha Epsilon Pi. It, along with the other seven fraternities, will continue to aid its members as well as the college community.

FEATURES

The Features Section of the Yearbook is a unique one in any Annual. Here you see snap shots of all the various phases of life in which the students participate throughout the college year. You might see a photo of one of our dances or an energetic student chasing a squirrel. You never know what to expect in this section. Yet throughout these pages, you begin to grasp the spirit and warmth that permeates our campus. Across the page we see the victory scores of our athletic teams painted on the side of the old Gym. This building is a silent reminder of the glory and success that has come to the Yellow Jackets of Randolph-Macon. This picture is only one of many that make up this part of the Annual.

ATHLETICS

Athletics are very important to every student on the college campus. There is sport that will interest everyone. If a student does not wish to participate in the various varsity sports, he can enjoy the splendid intra-mural program. Our athletic teams this year have had great success which follows the traditions of our teams in the past. An example of this can be seen in the presentation of the Best Player Award to Jim Gravatt at the conclusion of the Randolph-Macon—Hampden-Sydney football game. He is only one example of the many fine athletes that we have on our campus.

THE COACHES

VARSITY CLUB

Aside from the usual activities of encouraging athletic participation in the ten intercollegiate sports in which Randolph-Macon enters teams, the Varsity Club takes an active role in other aspects of life on the campus. Both of the fall dances were sponsored by the club with the profits going to help buy jackets for the members. Under the leadership of president Carl Koenig, the Varsity Club combined with the student government in the fall to conduct freshman orientation.

Athletes become members when they receive a letter in any varsity sport. The first year members receive a monogram and the choice of a jacket, blanket, or sweater after they earn their second letter.

From the start the 1960 Randolph-Macon football team was plagued with injuries. As a result, first-stringers Don Robinson, Bill Green, Walt Pendley, and several reserves were lost for part of the season.

The Jackets got off to a s'ow start and won only one of the first four games. Then, half-way through the season, the injured men began to return; and the team was able to upset favored Johns Hopkins. From here out the Jackets played top football and lost only one more game.

On a beautiful Saturday afternoon in late November, the Yellow Jackets went into Richmond's City Stadium to play arch-rival Hampden-Sydney in the Shrine Bowl. After a bitter struggle, the Jackets, led by the passing of Jim Gravatt, went home with a well earned 10-7 victory. This win, coup'ed with those over Johns Hopkins and Bridgewater, gave Randolph-Macon a share of the Mason-Dixon title. The win also brought the Little Eight championship to Ashland.

The fine play of quarterback Jim Gravatt and end Leroy Davenport sparked team effort all year. Gravatt was selected most valuable player in the Shrine Bowl; and during the next week, he was chosen Virginia's back of the week. At the same time Davenport was chosen lineman of the week for his play against the men from Death Valley. At the end of the season both men were awarded honorable mention on the Associated Press' Litt'e All-American team.

The 1960 Yellow Jacket bootmen celebrated the return of Hugh Moomaw as coach with their best season on record. The Jackets were able to defeat Gallaudet and V.M.I. and lost several games by only narrow margins. This year the team was led by Co-Captains Bill Rachels and Jim Gay. Coach Moomaw can look forward to a pleasant season next fall since several of his top players will be returning.

The Yellow Jacket cross country team was sparked by Senior John Clay, Junior Austin Bishop, and Freshman Larry Perin. The freshman class contributed s'x of the eight men to the team. They were Lee Banton, Bill Wallcot, Charles Emmerson, Jim Anderson, and Perin.

Despite the fact that the team lost five meets, the win over Hampden-Sydney made the season successful and gave much pleasure to the runners and the student body.

The Little Eight cross country meet was held at Bridgewater this fall. There captain John Clay finished fifteenth in a field of fifty men from schools around the state.

Let us hope that the experience gained this year wil! bring victory next year.

They called this year's basketball team "The Fabulous Five Plus Two". That is what they were. This team had one of the best seasons in the history of Randolph-Macon. They won more games in the season than had ever been won before; and in the home game against Bridgewater, they scored over a hundred points for the first time since anyone here can remember. To top off the season they went farther in the Mason-Dixon Tournament than ever before.

Leading the team to the 18-6 record, was captain Carl Koenig, the only senior on the team. Koenig was the all around team man. He could score well, was a top rebounder, and kept everyone alert with his beautiful passing. When the opponents brought a good big man, it was Koenig who stopped him. In the post season polls Koenig was chosen honoroble mention Little All-American and first string All-Little Eight.

Aside from Koenig, the big men under the boards were junior John Bunsavage and freshman Frank Kaminski. These two brought down a lot of rebounds and added their share of points. Kaminski, the teams leading scorer, was elected to the All-Little Eight team and to the All-Mason-Dixon second team.

The backcourt men were freshmen Al Roberts and Bill Chambers. Chambers was the team quarterback and defensive ace while Roberts was a high scorer with a long one hand push shot from the outside and an excellent dribbler. Roberts was elected to the second teams of both the Mason-Dixon and the Little Eight.

Buddy Allen and Bill Tucker were the two men who gave the team great bench strength. Either one of them could enter the game cold and give the team a needed spark. Allen, a guard, had a good outside shot; and Tucker was a top rebounder.

In a tough league the Jackets were able to place second in the Southern division. The 9-1 record they amassed in the Little Eight gave them that crown. Over Christmas the team trave'ed to two tournaments and came home with two second places.

With five lettermen returning for the 1960-61 season the swimming team was destined to have a victorious year. Led by captain Bill Cummings, the team defeated five of their eight opponents.

The tankmen were aided by talented freshmen Charlie Wornom, Joe Parker, Bob Fitz, and Dick Ammons. Ammons, with versatile ability, broke both pool and school records in the one-hundred and sixty yard individual medley.

The team also broke Randolph-Macon's four hundred yard relay record with a fast 5:58 minutes. The men participating in this event were Charlie Wornom, John Froehlich, Tom James, and Dick Ammons.

Even though the team will miss Bill Cummings, the Yellow Jacket tankmen can look forward to another winning season next year.

With twelve lettermen returning from last year's baseball team, Coach Stephens can look forward to another successful season on the diamond. Stephens is able to start a letterman at each position and have a few left over as bench strength. An outfielder last year, Jeff Applegate has converted to catching this year to aid pitchers Moore, Ihlenfeld, Hennage, and Anderson with their mound choirs. Behind these pitchers there is a veteran infield made up of Wayne Roach, Chick Crawford, Budge Kent and Bill Chambers. The outfield is lacking in neither experience nor depth. Stephens will be able to call on Captain Goulder, Walt Pendley, Parker Dillard, or John Bagby.

This is almost the same team that finished second in a powerful Mason-Dixon conference last year; and, therefore, great things are expected of them this year. However, with this tremendous Yellow Jacket team on the field, the end results should be equal to the expectations.

Again this year, as last, the Yellow Jacket golf team will be led by one of Virginia's top golfers, Wayne Jackson. With Jackson, who is playing coach and captain, playing in the number one position the team is always assured of the lead off points.

Backing Jackson up, the team will have lettermen Harry Shomo, Ron Christman, and Bill Johnson. In addition to these men, the team will be strengthened by new men Bill Reade, and Butch Beale.

With these experienced men playing for the yellow and b'ack, Randolph-Macon is assured of having another winning golf season. The schedule consists of some of the top teams in the area, but this team will be able to hold its own against all commers.

Led by co-captains Phil Johnson and Austin Bishop, the thinclads look forward to a record breaking season. Johnson, who now holds the school record for the 440 yard dash, is expecting to break his own record. Bishop, our top pole vaulter, has an excellent chance to better the school mark in that event.

Lettermen Dave Dorwood, Bill Tucker, and Jake Bargar are back much improved in their events. Much can be expected from promising new men Pete Kritzer, Channing Brown, Stewart Masters, and Randy Hiner.

The Jackets have great potential and should finish the season with an excellent record. With these men the team should have the best record of any Randolph-Macon track squad in the last few years.

The Randolph-Macon netmen are expected to represent the college in a first rate style this year. Aided by such new and talented men as Cotton Cobb, Tony Spiridakis, and Dave Warden, the returning men, Captain John Hatfield, Warren Dabney, and Bill Weinberg, should lead the team to many victories. It is certain that these men will bring to the college and to themselves well deserved recognition for an excellent tennis team.

In addition to its varsity teams, Randolph-Macon has a full and varied program of intramural sports. This program is set up and directed by the Intramural Council which is advised by Coach Ted Keller. Each of the seven fraternities, the Independents organization, and a group called the "Rebels" enter teams in the competition.

This year the program consists of football, vollyball, swimming, foul shooting, basketball, handball, track, tennis, pingpong, horseshoes, and softball. Points are awarded for each victory and for the teams final place in the league. The team with the greatest number of points at the end of the year is given a trophy. A trophy is also given to the outstanding player from any group in the year's competition.

Randolph-Macon was the host this winter to a basketball tournament with intramural teams from Virginia, Richmond, R.P.I. and Randolph-Macon entered. The team from Virginia defeated the Yellow Jacket all star team in the finals. Both the Lambda Chi and the Phi Delt teams were entered in tournaments against other of their own chapters.
