Freshman Move-in

Drive down the road with suitcases piled high. Maybe you've seen the campus before or maybe this is your first time. Brick buildings to your left and right, the fountain, the library, now you've made it to freshman village. A little unimpressive at first, but full of life inside. After unpacking, your parents leave, tears in their eyes. You sit on your new bed and stare at your empty walls. Until your roommate or that nice kid down the hall says "Hey, you wanna go to Estes?"

Homecoming

Everyone loves a parade. That's what Homecoming is and more. With Yellow Jacket football at its heart. CAB, OSMA, and the AGD sisters were just some of the many student organizations featured in the Homecoming parade. The Jackets beat Frostburg State with a score of 21 to 12. Fans filled the stadium cheering on their Jackets then congratulating the Homecoming court. Look out Ashland when past and present RMC students get together! They take over the town!

Hampden-Sydney Week

Macon a Comeback: A November to Remember

Not just the game (which we won 31 to 21), but lots of RM-C activities! We not only play hard (powderpuff football, paint dodgeball and alumni golf tournament) but also eat hard (wing eating contest) and give hard (blood donations). Most important, retribution! The Tiger-Yellow Jacket cup is ours! Good luck next year Hampden-Sydney!

Fall Activities

In September circled around the fountain Randolph-Macon displayed banners advertising clubs and groups at the Activities Carnival. In October ghouls and ghosts paraded the campus in broad daylight. Later in the year, Vice-presidential hopeful Sarah Palin reminded us that Washington DC is just a short train ride away and French Ambassador, H.E. Pierre Vimont's visit brought the world to RMC.

Study Abroad

Randolph-Macon students travel the globe, visit historic sites from the Taj Mahal to Zen Monasteries and meet people from Australia to Ghana. During J-term 2009, more than 200 students studied abroad, whether if it was for a semester, a few weeks, or a weekend trip. Each student packed their suitcase with an open heart, curiosity about the world around them, and a smile.

Spring Activities

Rarely do R-MC students wake up so early, only for Good Morning America that was filmed in Ashland. And R-MC students certainly stayed awake for NAACP speaker Julian Bond and Art lecturer Judy Chicago. Students got spring fever by lending a helping hand during Macon a Difference Day and kept volunteering all year through Macon Peer Response, the student organization of the year. The beginning of spring semester looked like more like a winter wonderland. Makeshift forts, sledding, and snow fights keep R-MC students enthralled.

Theatre

Wait outside Cobb Theater for the doors to open; bundle yourself in from the cold. Take a program from the usher. Find your seat. Lights go up. Audience gets quiet. Actors and actresses enter the stage. Rashomon swept the audience away to far Japan. Lysistrata tested the boundaries of polite society and made everyone laugh. The Christmas Carol like every year warmed our hearts. Theater at Randolph-Macon brings in the world while we are sitting enraptured and comfortable in our seats.

Julius Caesar, Shakespeares classic tragedy of political intrigue and personal betrayal still resonates with audiences today with its cast of psychologically complex characters. This production is directed by Tonya Pleasants as her senior project in Drama.

Very funny and touching. The Boys Next Door focuses on the lives of four men with various types of mental problems who live in a communal residence under the watchful eye of a sincere social worker. This production is directed by Tim Gochenour as his senior project in Drama. Starring: James Murray, Christopher Blenderman, Tommy Proffitt, Casie, Amy Charlotte Cathey, Derek, Misty Gomez, Nathan, Seth Haley, Dr. Jack Trammell, Godwin De Lima.

A scene of Rashomon directed by Becky Johnsen. The wife (Tonya Pleasants) of a samurai warrior is assaulted and her husband killed by the roving bandit Tajomaru (Kristofer Hutchinson). Contradictory versions of what happened are re-enacted at the trial by the bandit, the wife and the dead husband who speaks through a medium. Though each seems plausible, the truth proves elusive until the end.

Determined to end the Peloponnesian War, Lysistrata rallies the women of Greece to stage a strike by withholding sex from their husbands until the men agree to peace. This classic comedy, Lysistrata, employs the full arsenal of comic humor, from puns and bawdy language to farce and visually graphic jokes. This production is directed by Elizabeth C. (Bitsy) Johnson and the set is designed by James Murray.

Int'l Student Life

I walk into a room full of unfamiliar faces. Tired faces most have travelled half way around the world to get to Randolph-Macon College. Each face looks nervous but excited to start a new chapter of life. Trips to International Luncheons and International Education Week; each is a learning experience. Everything is new. For a while. Then magic happens, students reach across international borders and welcome in new friends.

2009 DEDICATION

This book is dedicated to the memory of Eric Farag
1989 - 2009

First of all, I would like to thank Professor Connors for being a dedicated advisor and yearbook savvy! I would also like to thank the yearbook staff, Gretchen Smither, Jessica Herdorn, Maggie Yoder, Mary Tschirhart, and Vi Mai for their hard work and enthusiasm. Special thank yous go out to John Irby, Christina Brown, Gregg Hillmar, the Marketing and Communications office, and R-MC students who sent us their professional and amazing photos.

Working with the yearbook has been a memorable time for me at R-MC. Whenever seeing me in front of the computer, my friends could tell that I was "doing yearbook stuff". They often say that I am addicted to yearbook! I hope you will enjoy the book this year as much as I do, as it is made with love and friendship. Many years later, you may open this book and remember that college was among the best time of your life.

Finally I would like to end the 2009 yearbook with the lyrics of a song by Laura Eister '09.

*Center of the Universe,
Here we are thanks to lives sweet course
Soaked in bravery, with things that are to be,
Unsure of what path will succeed,
We must have faith, we must proceed,
Together, we won't fall.
And even though we might be scared,
No one can take what we have shared,
Engraved in memory, this time remains to be.*
